Your objective is to find the 13 hidden treasures & store them in a safe place.
GOOD LUCK & Happy Adventuring.
For instructions type 'INSTRUCT'

I am on the road near a mansion
There are exits :
North,East.
Around me I can see:
nothing special.
What next?
```

The Adventure F-Eye Of Bain

I am in a grass hut.
There are no obvious exits!
I can see : a Pole in the ground, a grass Door,
a sharp Dagger, a fine Net.

What next ?

Adventure G-Ground Zero

I AM IN the Lounge of a typical suburban semi. I can see floral wallpaper, a foam-cushioned three-piece and a few ornaments on shelves.
I can also see a television.
There is a window to the West and an exit South.
It seems unusually quiet.

I'm ready for your instructions.

The Adventures Of Sid Spider

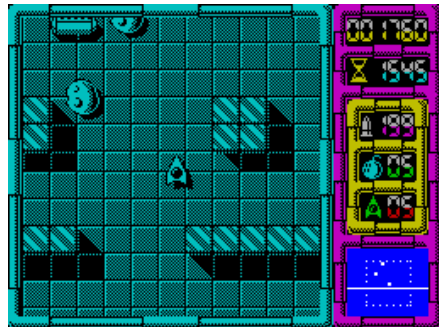

Afghan Attack

The noisy brown Lynx helicopter hovered over a small opening in the rocks, then landed softly onto the cropped grass. As the engine dies, uniformed men hurry to place camouflaged netting on the helicopter, thus concealing it from aerial view. The pilots face cracks into a smile as he leaves. "Hope you enjoyed the ride Commander, noisy but fast. Four Paratroopers approach you. "Good morning Commander. This is Sergeant April, Corporal Marsh Corporal Tate and I am Sergeant Grant. We and Fifty troops will be accompanying you, including ten under your direct command. Each Para, salutes, then leaves. What are your instructions?

Agathas Folly

THE ENTRANCE HALL.
Glancing around at the peeling plaster and grubby paint you begin to wonder if you'll ever have the time to make this place look habitable. Even the stairs are covered in grime, and the rug on the floor is filthy. Exit(s): S.E.W.N.U.

The Adventures Of St. Bernard

Africa

Das geht leider nicht, aber es gibt ja noch andere Moeglichkeiten! Was soll ich also tun?

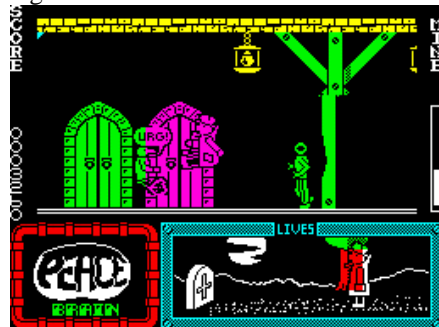

Afterburner

After Shock

Your office. Gazing out of the window across the shattered city, the distorted shapes of the surrounding offices blocks seem as if twisted fingers, pointing accusingly skyward, through the shifting veils of dust and smoke. Numerous fires blazing out of control; the sirens of emergency service vehicles wailing like tormented souls, complete a picture more horrific than any vision of Dante. There is an exit East. You can see: - a chair, a desk, a pen, a radio.

Agent-X

Aegean Voyage

Africa Gardens

You are standing in the hall of Africa Gardens. Everything you see is covered by a thin layer of white dust. A pale moon shines through the dirty window and illuminates a bright silver tray. On the tray is a freshly written note
MR ROBINSON ARRIVES AT THREE
A silent grandfather clock stands in the corner. In front of you there is a large oak door.
You can also see: - A WALKINGSTICK
What are your instructions?

Aftermath

You are in what seems to be a quiet, impeccably clean store room, way below the ground. There are massive steel pillars supporting the room above.
READILY VISIBLE OBJECTS ARE:
> A strong steel shovel. An anti-radiation suit.
> O.K. It's done.
OBVIOUS EXITS: Up.

Everyday Tale Of A Seeker Of Gold An

Bulbo was in a neat, tidy and very comfortable little burrow. In the corner was the standard green door, whilst to the left was a small round window. From the oven wafted the delightful aroma of freshly baked brown cakes.

Bulbo noticed ...
 A coil of rope.
 A wooden chest.

*TAKE ROPE

Flush looked puzzled. Flicking through Gettov's script, he found the problem, turned to the right page, and gave the script back to Gettov.
Gettov went a bright shade of red, and began to read the right page.
"SO Flush, you see, unless we nip into this rocket, fly into outer space, end each episode in a predictable cliff hanger, and kill the evil baddie, Earth doesn't have a chance."
Flush agreed.

Computing, the game based on Ingrid Bottomlow's reports of her adventures in the wilderness. As you join her, Ingrid is walking home after being teleported far from Gnettlefield by a faulty scroll..

Ingrid was beside a sturdy little stone-built shop at the end of a road which meandered gnorth across a grassy plain. A multitude of tracks pitted the ground, yet the countryside was almost uninhabited and the air was strangely silent. The loudest sound was the rushing water, far to the east. Exits led gnorth, gnortheast, east, gnorthwest and inside through a door. Ingrid could see some wooden shutters and a door. What gnaw?

ADVENTURERS RETURN

Adventurer Ekin Drarreg returned from his latest trip today. He told our reporter that he had been to Shoolistan, where he had been caught by the shoolies and left hanging upside down over a pothole. "It makes your eyes water something fierce!", he said. Regular readers will remember that on his last journey he was kicked in the Trossachs whilst attempting to mount a unicorn.

 Ingrid was in the village hall of Little Moaning. Its wide doorway opened north onto the Market Square. Ingrid could see through it. Little while ago, folk had been milling about waiting for the do that gnever did. Then they learned that their so-called party invitations had been gnotices to quit their homes. True to their gnature, everyone had gone to get a drink in the Green Gnome, while they still could. But Ingrid had decided to get together a protest petition.

He looks at you with mournful vigilance. "I am one of the Guardians. I am currently attached to the Department of Turani, Sacred Charm subdivision. Wouldn't believe I was immortal, would you? You wouldn't look at me and say "Stone me, a bleeding immortal being, God-like in was agony and he ached in every limb. Grindleguts' mouth tasted like a Hobbit's armpit and he seemed to have lost another tooth - he could not quite remember what had happened after they captured the Inn, yesternight, but he was sure it must have been fun! He moaned again and prepared to wallow in his hangover.

A sharp object stabbed at Grindleguts' ribs again, interrupting his enjoyment of his misery. Grindleguts risked ungluing one bloodshot eye and squinted at the world. A shaft of sunlight stabbed back. It was still light. It was very light! Some idiot had woken him in the middle of the day!
What now?

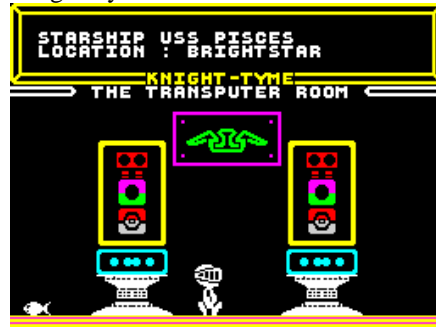

Knight Rider

The Knights Quest

You can see your score at any time by typing SCORE. The maximum score is 1180 but to gain full credit for any treasures they must be returned to Camelot Castle.
As this is a long game, when you QUIT you will be asked if you want to save your present position on tape ready to start again the next time.
If you need further help now, type HELP, otherwise if you just press "enter" I will begin to load the main game.

INTRODUCTION TO BOXES

This program draws a box of any size, anywhere on the screen. It is based upon the program on page 14 of the book.

BASIC WORDS USED IN BOXES

PLOT puts a point on the screen. The two numbers after PLOT show where the point is to go. The 1st number must be between 0 and 255, and the 2nd between 0 and 175. Refer to page 63 of the book.

DRAW makes a straight line, and is also explained on page 63.

the Royal Angus, I think, therefore, (no, not "I am") many guests have demanded the poor attendants to take their luggage to their rooms and the attendants have got a bit peeved. Who'd blame them! My car shamelessly nestles amidst shiny new BMAs and Porsches. Exits are northwest and in.
>NW
St. Chad's Queensway, the home of the Royal Angus, is simply delightful. To the south is St. Chad's Circus, a busy roadway with an extensive subterranean tunnel system (the safest way!), while St. Chad's Cathedral is at the other side of the road to the west. door) and south.
What now?

Snow Joke

You are in your car. The car is covered with ice, and the empty country road that you can see through the windscreen seems to lead for miles.

I can also see:
A box of matches.

What should you do now?

The Snowman

The Snow Queen

I am in a little parlour.
There are flowers on the mantel and a cuckoo-clock on the wall.

Outside the window a bird sings on the branch of a blossoming rose-tree.

Doors lead North and South;
stairs UP.

Can you advise me?

It's raining heavily. You are standing at the black iron gates of the driveway. The drive winds its way up the hill east towards Sunnyvale Manor, and a narrow garden path goes north. Da Boss says "MEET me here when you've got all the loot. Don't come back until you've got all of it! Understand?"

What now ?

Thiefs Tale A

You're in your local Inn. The Midge and Maggot. The wooden tables are stained with the rings of many a wet tankard and the sawdust on the floor takes care of any beer or blood that may be spilled. An arched doorway leads East.

You have just been invalided out of the army due to wounds received in a severe battle. Your only possession is your sword that has seen you through many successful crusades. You are now fully recovered, and have been given five guineas as a token of gratitude. You may leave the hospital today to seek fame and fortune in the foreign land in which you find yourself.....

This is the only ward in the hospital. Low moans come from the sick and dying patients all around.

Feature of interest is a vast hill rising to the north, atop which is a windmill. You can go north, south, east and up.

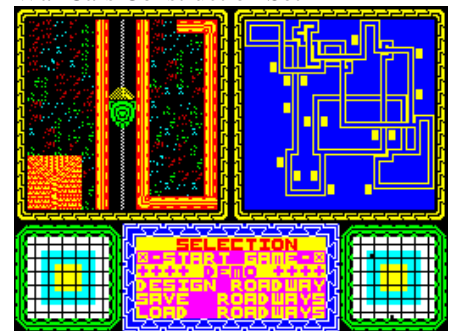

This disguised yard has surely seen better days, as has the upturned cart that lies in its centre. The yard is strewn with much other rubbish and a gargantuan windmill towers a great distance high above the ground on which you stand, its sails dissecting the air graciously. The windmill overshadows the hill in scale and a path leads back down to flatter land. You can go north, south and down.

The White Feather Cloak

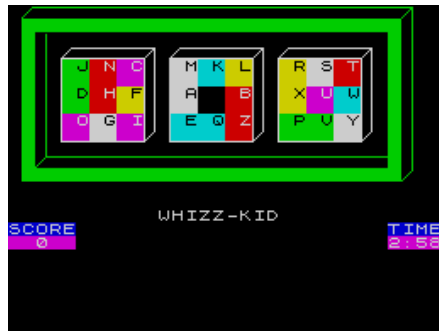

I am in the throne room of the palace. The high walls are lined with shields and flags. The only furniture is the great stone throne under which has lain since time's beginning the rune-engraved Lith of Destiny, the source of gnomish power.

I am thrust into the presence of the king. Always a passionate and volatile gnome, he is now almost beside himself. "So you are here at last! Where is Borin? Tell me at once!"

Why Is The World Round Anyway

EXITS: N.E. SC: 000/250

A sign declares this as SLEAZY PLACE, so it is obviously the red-light zone of the future! Also, a variety of criminal activities are going on around me, and the perpetrators don't even attempt to conceal them. One of them is a shifty fish. Gazing around, I also observe an embedded cheque making machine.

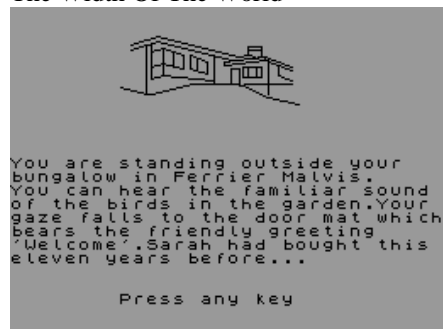

The fish picks up a nubile nymph from the street corner and drives her off in his Merc. He must be a sleazy place!

You are standing in the garden, which is perched some 200 feet in the air on top of a plateau.
The garden stretches further to the north. To the east is the edge of the plateau, to the south is a path which leads to the wizard's front door.

I await your command.

The Wizards Scrolls

I am at Nemorus' Gate (the nasty man won't let me in again until I've got the Scrolls - sounds painful). His large, dark fortress looms behind me. I can see a flickering light in the North Tower where he works his spells. The only way onwards leads DOWN the hill.

Now what?

The Wizards Skull

You are standing inside a small room which is covered in dust.
The smell of damp mould fills your nostrils as you notice a table in the centre of the room.
Beside it, you can see a chair close to the fireplace. As you look around, light filters in through a broken window and falls onto a cupboard in the corner.

I am in my room, a small and squalid abode.
I stir from a heavy sleep, awakened by the clamour of voices outside. Pulling the curtains back, I see the shape-less mass of a crowd standing in the drizzle of this gloomy morning. They sound angry. In my mind I can hear a ghostly howling, echoing round my head from the darkest depths of my soul.
My eyes slowly focus....
GOD!....MY HANDS!...They are covered in blood. My doublet torn and bloodstained.
What is this....
What has happened to me?

Tell me what to do.
